PRESIDENT'S LETTER

Happy Fourth of July!

Independence Day has new meaning for me this year as I have been free from my 5-week stint in rehab for a little over a week as I write this. How great my own bed feels! My hubby has been a saint taking care of me...his cooking skills that have been "dormant" for a while are coming back to him. (Although he does need to remember to check how quickly salt comes out of the shaker!)

I hope you are as excited as I am about our move to the Boca Community Center in September. It's all set, thanks to the hard work of Suzanne McGee. Kudos to her and to all the other Board members who stepped up to ensure that the Guild continued to run smoothly in my absence, and thanks to all of you for the cards, visits, calls, prayers, and gifts during my absence. They kept my spirits lifted!

If all goes well, I hope to be with you for the July meeting. It seems like forever since I've been with all of you and been in front of my sewing machine! I've got a lot of catching up to do!

Hugs,
Lisa

FAT QUARTER OF THE MONTH: CANINE CHRONICLES & KITTY CRONICLES

Junkyard Dog Denied Appeal
By Hallow Bozer
Buster Bozer is back in the doghouse today as the courts denied his request for a new trial. (Apparently he was interested in some plastic surgery) "I was seeing a man about a dog!" he pleaded. "It's a mutt, meaner," he begged. "They just want to throw another dog on the fire..." he howled. "It's diggins out, America!" Outlookers were impressed with his theatrics but apparently the jury of his people was unimpressed. Let him eat catfood, they cried!

Surprise Fans
By Wab Whoston Terrier
Fans of the Dallas Underdogs (so named because their dugout is so dog out that they are literally underground) were surprised when Punky Pitbull smashed a grand slam home run over left field this weekend and saw outfielder Susy Shih Tea barking up the wrong tree in search of the ball. It was the Underdogs' game from then on. No one's been in baseball as long as Coach Ralph Karp, owner of Dallas, and he finally had to call off his dogs after an 86 run lead. A good time was had by all but the fans left a little dog-eyed from all the excitement.

The Search is Over!
The search for America's Top Dog has finally come to an end. Finalists competed last week and it was unanimous. Mickey Mutt's hula hoop talents were like nothing ever seen in this competition. He dazzled, tripped and foaled with his rendition of "Tail Wagging the Dog," a hopping routine that ended in a rear of applause. Lucky for dogs around the country that Mickey intends to end his amateur status. And hit Westminster next year.

By Casse Greyhound
Prices at the pumps reached an all time high today but no one is suffering who purchased an electric race from Lucky Mutt Inc. Love Triangle at Love.Dogs.Com
No one was ready for it this weekend when two approved (DSD) Biting and Bickie Russell both showed up to marry Patsy Peeking eye. "I have trouble with my browser" she yelled. "I didn't mean to double click. It was gone so I had to click twice again!" An e-brood out, her love connection was off.

Something to Bark At!
Yes folks, it's true! Low cost housing will soon be available in a self-heating, fireproof, insect-free, and mold-free building. It's called the Doghouse. It's made of plastic and is easy to assemble. It's perfect for housing a necessary Chewie your fur baby for pooping. Smaller breeds are looking for opportunities. Construction begins this fall and the waiting list is growing by leaps and bounds. To start your dogging now! Sizes may vary according to breed and no barking rules may apply. Some assembly required.

QUILT WALK PARK, Panguitch, Utah

The winter of 1864 was a particularly brutal one, and it hit the town of Panguitch, Utah (then called Fairview) hard. Food supplies were dwindling to dangerously low levels when town leaders decided to take extraordinary measures to save the community from potential starvation.

Two rescue parties were sent out to seek food supplies from other "nearby" rural communities in Utah. One party attempted to travel 110 miles north to Gunnison, while the other would have to trek 40 miles west over the mountains to Parowan. The group traveling north were quickly impeded by harsh weather conditions and had to turn back. Meanwhile, the seven rescuers who trekked west over the mountains eventually had to give up their oxen team and wagon to travel through deep drifts of snow on foot.

As they were struggling, the rescuers stopped to pray for guidance. While doing so they knelt on the quilts and blankets that had been provided for warmth. As they did this, the group realized they were not sinking into the snow while kneeling. This gave them the idea of using their supply of quilts and blankets as a way to travel across the snowfields on foot without exhausting themselves. Essentially, the quilts became snowshoes. The rescue party was able to secure enough food and provisions to supply the town for the rest of winter and deliver it safely back home.

Since 1998, this heroic event is celebrated and remembered in Panguitch with an annual Quilt Walk Festival on the second week of June. Preceding each year's festival, colorful quilts are displayed throughout town. More recently, a memorial and small park were completed and

7-member rescue party who successfully made this trek. This lovely little pocket park in downtown Panguitch is known as Quilt Walk Park on the south side of Center Street.

The park contains an impressive memorial statue, plantings, seven benches dedicated to each member of the rescue team, as well as inscriptions on the life story of each person. The park is well worth the stop and the quilts displayed around town are a unique sight to see in late May and June.

A MACHINE FROM 1867

ONLY A QUILTER

We've all heard the classic line that only a quilter would take yards and yards of material, cut it into little pieces and then sew them back together again. While this statement is true and a little funny to think about, it doesn't even scratch the surface of the things that only a quilter would do.

Only a Quilter would spend more hours sewing several hundreds of buttons on a quilt to embellish it, but wouldn't take five minutes to replace a button on a pair of pants.

Only a Quilter would give the gift of a wedding quilt two months after the birth of the couple's second child.

Only a Quilter would put hundreds of dollars worth of fabric into her fabric stash because she might find a use for it sometime, but wouldn't replace a 50-cent needle on her sewing machine.

Only a Quilter would let three later-arriving patients go ahead of her at the doctor's office because she is on the verge of completing a block.

Only a Quilter would rush to finish a gift quilt. Not so it's done in time for the recipient's birthday, but so it's done in time for Show and Tell.

Only a Quilter would make a special quilt to give to her son, who would then have to attend quilt shows just to see it.

Only a Quilter would use freezer paper in the production of something to keep someone warm.

Only a Quilter has a welcome mat at the door to her home and an "Enter at Your Own Risk" sign on the door of her sewing room.

Only a Quilter invites everyone to see her sewing room, then says, "Don't look at the mess."

Only a Quilter says, "I really don't need another project," then offers to make a quilt for a friend.

Only a Quilter will buy more than she'll ever need of one fabric for her stash, but slightly less than is needed of another fabric to complete a project.

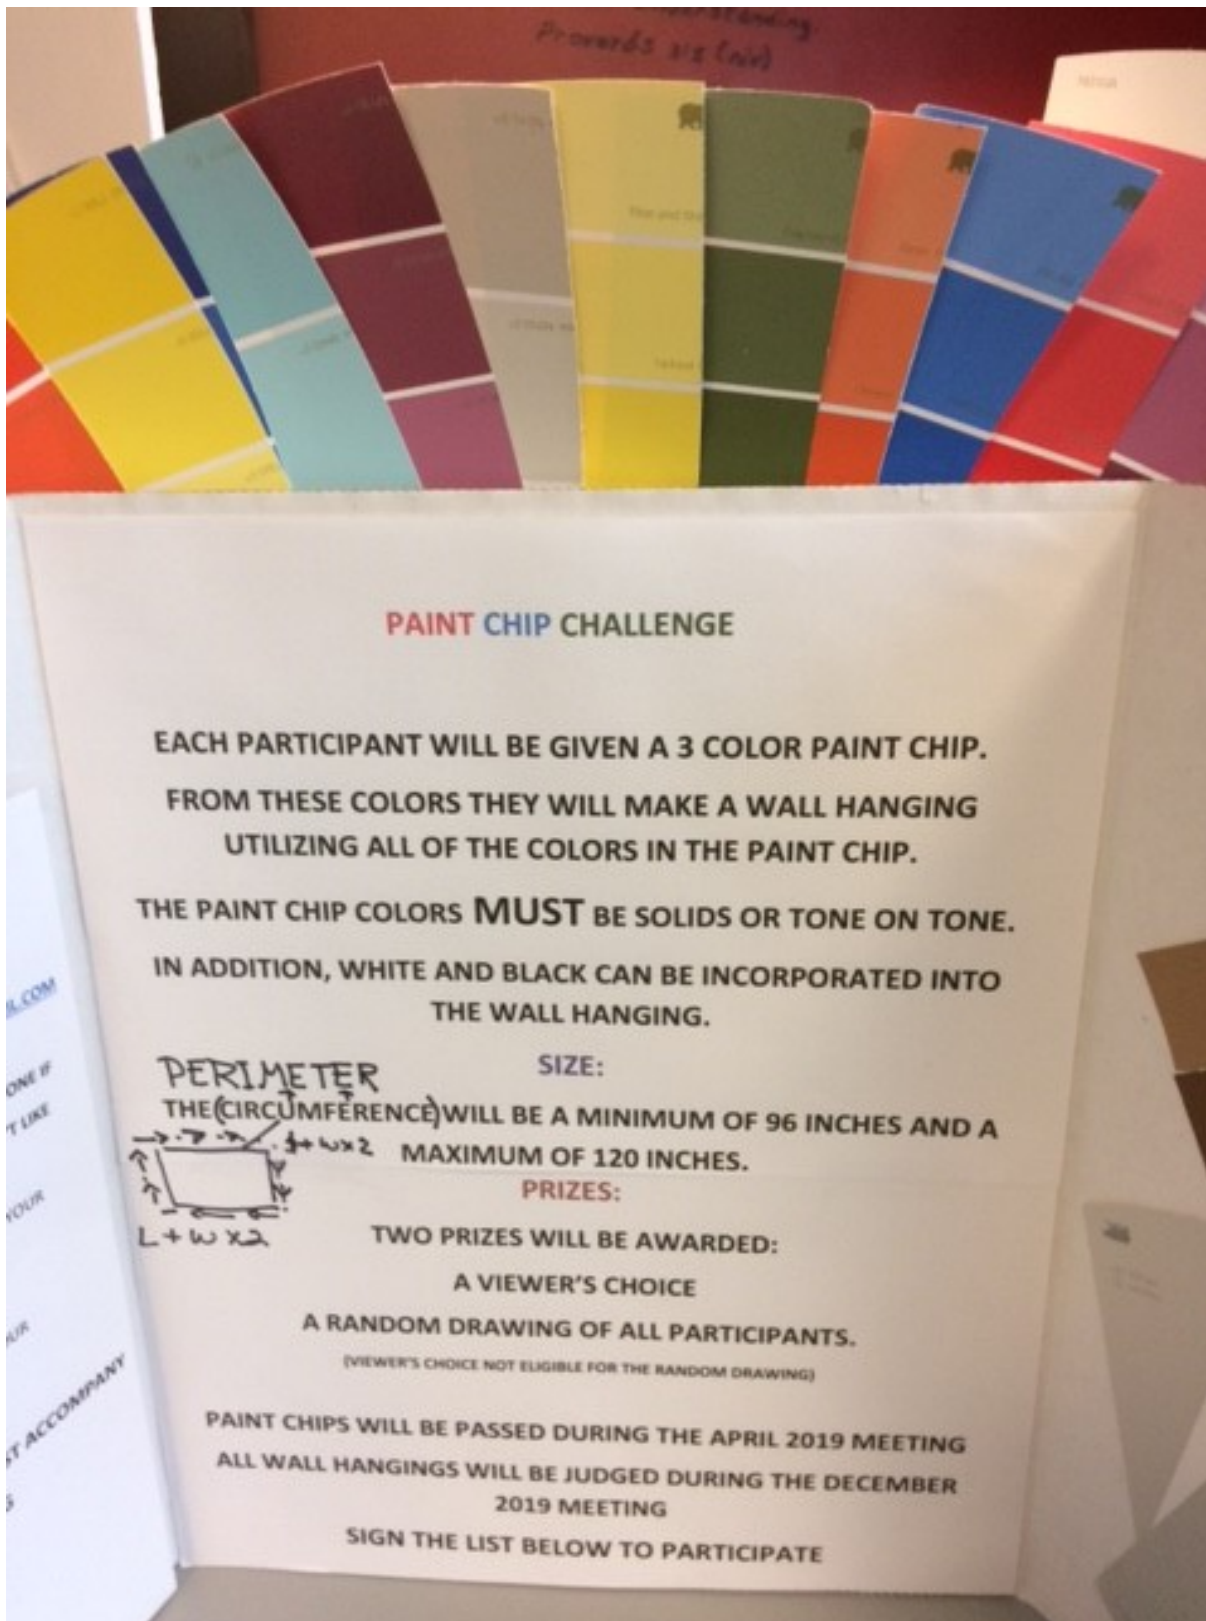

Only a Quilter would give a quilt book to the guild auction then bid on it to get it back.

Only a Quilter would drive 40 miles in a hurricane to attend a quilt show, but call out to have her dinner delivered because it is drizzling.

Only a Quilter's family would put up with, understand and love a quilter
